

Venice Biennale 2015: Our Favorite Under-the-Radar Art Exhibits

"Dansaekhwa"

Palazzo Polignac, one of the most opulent palazzi on the Grand Canal, is a private family home with a long tradition of nurturing the arts (Wagner used to perform there). This summer, it has been transformed into a white cube for "Dansaekhwa," a major show of contemporary and modern Korean art (including works by Lee Ufan, who has created an installation specifically for the space). Palazzo Contarini-Polignac, Dorsoduro, Venice 30123

Courtesy Skye McAlpine